Minaris is a specialized global partner for therapy development, manufacturing, and testing, with dedicated business units in Cell Therapy, Viral Vectors, and Testing Services. We support developers from early development through commercial manufacturing with integrated plasmid and vector design, cGMP manufacturing, and comprehensive GMP testing services.

Backed by a proven commercial track record, we bring the expertise and infrastructure needed to advance complex therapies with confidence. We are committed to accelerating the path to market, lowering cost per batch, and expanding patient access to life-changing therapies.
